Mrs. Vincent to Head Alumni for 1965-66

The Annual Meeting of the National Alumni Association of Oglethorpe College was recently held on campus. In attendance for the annual event were some 300 persons from 21 states and one foreign country.

Presiding over the meeting in the auditorium was E. P. Jones, Alumni President. The annual fund report for the Forward Oglethorpe Program was presented by Francis S. Key. He reported the total donations at date to be $17,979, an increase of $2,066 over the amount of this time last year.

Following the progress report, Jones recognized Oglethorpe administrators James E. Findlay, Dr. George C. Seward, and Garland F. Pinholster and Stewart Petrel editors in attendance.

In a poll of "Who came the furthest?" alumni stood up from Illinois, Florida, Connecticut, Ohio, and Mexico. Mrs. Liz Mathieu Frias from Mexico City was recognized as the alumnus who traveled the furthest for the annual events.

SCIENCE OGLETHORPE

"This next item should have happened many years ago," said the alumni president in his introduction of Chip Mobley, president of the new Science Oglethorpe program.

Mobley noted that Science Oglethorpe was organized on the day following Alumni Day 1964. Mobley related that the organization is currently composed of 40 members, and said, "So far our most significant accomplishment is the publication of the Science Oglethorpe brochure."

The current projects of the new organization are the sponsorship of three science scholarships, aid to the biology division with raising funds for the National Science Foundation grant which must be matched, and conduction of a membership drive. Mobley concluded, "We are off to a good start, but we need your help."

AWARDS

Plaques were presented to the Class of 1948 for "providing the largest total contribution to the Oglethorpe Alma Mater," and to the Classes of 1929 and 1954 for "providing the largest number of contributing members to the Oglethorpe Alma Mater."

In introducing Dr. Paul R. Beall, Jones referred to the new president as "... a man who has meant much to Oglethorpe in a short period of time, ... a man who is best described as a real sport, and a man who needs no introduction."

Dr. Beall said, "I cannot tell you how satisfying and rewarding it is for myself to be associated with you." He added, "I am proud of you and think we are going far together."

Following his greeting, Dr. Beall was presented with a pair of book-ends on which were engraved the Oglethorpe

Music Studio to be Renovated

Harry M. Dobson, assistant professor of music at Oglethorpe announces that his music studio is to be completely revamped this summer. The improvements will include the addition of an accoustical ceiling, new cabinets for books and records, new furniture, draperies and carpeting. The studio will also be air-conditioned.

The expenses of the remodeling of the workshop are being contributed by Mr. Mills B. Lane, Jr., one of Atlanta's leading bankers. The gift was secured by Miss Betsy Primm, a recent graduate.

Plans for the studio have been drawn by William Trapnell, an Atlanta interior decorator. He will oversee the construction and the decorating of the room. Dobson added that Mr. Trapnell has graciously donated his services to the school in order that the consulting fee might be used to buy records for the music department.

Approximately $6,500 is to be spent on the remodeling and construction will begin shortly.

First Inaugural Ceremonies in Modern History of OC Install Dr. Beall as President

Rev. Fitzhugh Legerton delivers the Charge of office to Dr. Beall

In a ceremony unprecedented in the modern history of Oglethorpe College, Dr. Paul R. Beall was formally inaugurated as Oglethorpe's tenth president, May 15.

Over 650 alumni, students, and guests present at Oglethorpe's field house witnessed the inaugural procession, led by Marshals of the College, Leo Bilancio and Harry M. Dobson.

Following the marshals in order of procession were members of Oglethorpe's Senior Class and faculty, delegates from 156 colleges and universities and 30 learned societies, trustees of the college, and the inaugural party.

Following the invocation, given by The Rev. Father Michael A. Morris, the combined choruses of Oglethorpe and St. Martin-in-the-Fields Episcopal Church sang "Go and Subdue."

Robert L. Foreman, chairman of Oglethorpe's trustees, who presided, recognized official representatives of the inaugural party.

Frank Hughes, president of Oglethorpe's student body, welcomed those present at the inauguration and said, "Dr. Beall, in the short period he has been among us, has already taken great strides toward the building of stronger and more effective ties between the students, and the faculty and administration. I know that I speak for all students when I state that I am certain Dr. Beall's administration will continue to be fruitful in providing the finest liberal arts education possible for the students of the College."

"We are convinced," said E. P. Jones, president of Oglethorpe's Alumni Association, "we have in Dr. Beall the quality of leadership that will make Oglethorpe a growing institution."

"We are happy to join forces with you in promoting through the education of the next generation all of those great unfinished items of business on the agenda of civilization . . .," said Dr. George C. Seward, Dean of the College speaking for the faculty and added, "Success in this endeavor is dependent upon cooperation between administration and faculty . . . We pledge to you our support and cooperation in the achievement of our mutual goals."

Dr. Donald C. Agnew, speaking in behalf of former presidents at Oglethorpe, said Dr. Beall has "all my very good wishes and I'm sure, the good wishes and congratulations of those who preceded me at Oglethorpe."

Fitzhugh Legerton, Minister of the Oglethorpe Presbyterian Church administered the charge, Dr. Beall replied that he would try to move Oglethorpe forward "with all my heart, with all my strength and energies . . ."

Foreman completed the installation of Dr. Beall, and a prayer by Rev. Legerton followed.

In Dr. Beall's response as president of Oglethorpe, he stated, "I appreciate the honor you have bestowed upon me today, but I am mindful that honors carry obligations . . ."

He commented, "As educators, we have an awesome responsibility to discover new knowledge and equally a responsibility to inspire, teach and generate such wisdom that that knowledge may be beneficially employed."

"We must educate and inspire the men and women who tomorrow must meet and solve problems already with us today."

The audience sang Oglethorpe's Alma Mater after Dr. Beall's response and Hans Erman, Jewish Educational Bureau director, gave the benediction.

Following the recessional, official representatives and guests were invited to attend a buffet luncheon in Oglethorpe's quadrangle.

Greeting from The President

Greetings:

The year 1965-66 promises to be the best year that Oglethorpe College has ever known.

Dr. Paul Beall is moving forward at a rapid pace with many plans and he is a real stem winder.

The National Alumni Association of Oglethorpe College certainly supports Dr. Beall in every way and we want to move forward with the College.

The Inauguration and Alumni Day was a huge success and those of you who had to miss all of the festivities really missed something to be remembered.

It is my plan to give the very best that I have to the progress of the National Alumni Association of Oglethorpe College and for the Forward Oglethorpe campaign.

Annette Vincent

Inaugural Assembly

Dr. Reser Chosen for Overseas Program

Dr. Richard M. Reser, professor of sociology, has announced that he will be on leave next year from Oglethorpe College. Dr. Reser will take part in an overseas faculty program, the European Theater, under the direction of the University of Maryland.

Under this program, Dr. Reser said that faculty volunteers are "assigned to teach classes held at over 100 military institutions throughout Europe." Dr. Reser is one of the two teachers who has been appointed to the European Theater to teach sociology on a full-time basis. In addition, approximately 25 instructors will teach on a part-time basis.

The European Theater is one of the three programs (Atlantic, Asiatic, and European Theaters) which are primarily designed for teaching military personnel at military bases throughout the world, said Dr. Reser.

DEPARTURE

Dr. and Mrs. Reser plan to leave for Europe around the middle of July or August. Dr. Reser said if he and his wife leave during the middle of July they will have the opportunity to tour Europe for a month. If not, they plan to report on Heidelberg, Germany, central headquarters of the European Theater, August 28.

The Resers will fly to Europe by either "commercial or military" plane. They will take a car in Heidelberg, Germany, as soon as they arrive. Dr. Reser added that he would have military privileges but not military rank. "The educational advisor at each base makes available accommodations and apartments. We will probably live off the base," said Dr. Reser.

CLASSES

"Classes start on September 12," Dr. Reser said. I will teach four night classes a week. "We teach in one place for eight weeks, and then we are moved to another area. There is a 10-day break between each eight week session." Dr. Reser added that he did not know in which areas of Europe he would be teaching as the teaching assignments depend upon registration.

"This trip will be a tremendously valuable experience, particularly in my field of anthropology and sociology, studying various cultures of Europe," stated Dr. Reser. "This will be an ideal chance to study the sociology of the military in peacetime."

Dr. Reser said he and his wife are "very enthusiastic" about this trip. He added that this will be his first trip to Europe, although he has been to every other continent in the world.

Oglethorpe Sports

Basketballs in July? The familiar sound of rubber against hardwood is very much in evidence during the month of July as Coach Garland Pinholster conducts his sixth annual basketball camp.

The first weekly session drew a full house with 72 male basketballers and 60 girl cheerleaders reporting. The second and third weeks feature boys' and girls' basketball and baton twirling.

Several familiar faces are among the instructors assisting Coach Pinholster. They are: Morris Mitchell, '63, who coaches at Pope Pius X in DeKalb County; Wayne Dobbs, '61, who is the cage mentor at Belmont College in Nashville, and Coach Pat Stephens, '59 of Druid Hills High School. Current Petrel players Bill Garrigan, Doug Alexander, and Walker Heard fill out the instruction team.

Three high school teams invaded the camp en masse. Cullman (Ala.) High, Baylor Prep from Chattanooga, and North Hardin High from Vine Grove, Ky. are the schools being represented.

Coach Leon Braddock of North Hardin paid the Petrel's Pinholster a real compliment recently in the Kentucky press. He said: "We had three summer camps definitely in mind. We selected Oglethorpe's camp over Georgetown and N. C. State because of Coach Pinholster's apparent approach to teaching fundamentals. I am informed that Pinholster is one of the outstanding fundamentalists in the coaching ranks." A great slap on the back for the Wheel's Wagonmaster, since the N. S. State camp has a proprietor named Everett Case, the man who probably has done more than anyone to bring big-time collegiate basketball to the South.

Miss Killan elected to AWRT

Margaret Kilian '30 program director of Station WABE in Atlanta, has been elected for a two-year term as a director-at-large of the American Women in Radio and Television, Inc. at a convention held in New York City this past spring.

Miss Kilian is also president of the President's Council in Atlanta, a group of 30 leaders of professional women's organizations.

Basketball recruiting is just about over and Coach Pinholster reports that several outstanding athletes have signed grant-in-aid pacts with Oglethorpe. A prize catch was Earl Blair, a 6-2 guard from Elizabethtown, Ky. whose potential is ranked by Pinholster and Co. to be along the lines of Tom Norwood, '62.

To quote Pinholster: "Earl's tremendous ability coupled with a high IQ means that he should gain a position of leadership and play a lot of ball during his freshman year."

Blair's high school coach, Hardin McLane says that Earl is a real coach on the floor and saves a ball club many time outs. McLane flatly stated that Blair had more cage savvy than any player he has ever coached. Fans will remember Elizabethtown Catholic as the school which also produced Jimbo Hartlage, '65.

Blair was heartily sought by Army, a good indication of the lad's scholastic abilities.

Another strapping 6-1 guard named Jim Hoggarth is also in the Petrel fold. Jim hails from Nashville, Tennessee, where he matriculated at DuPont High School, which had a 26-3 record this past cage season. Jim will also boost Bill Carter's Petrel baseballers. He was a catcher at DuPont. Scholastically, Jim is also a thoroughbred—he ranked fourth in his senior class of 130.

Filling out the guard posts among the new recruits are 6-1 Ronnie Clevenger from Alexandria, Va., and Brown High School's Jerry Lee who also stands an inch over six feet.

The frontcourtmen are BIG! Three of the men up front hail from Illinois. Centers A1 Smith, 6-5 from Danville and Mike Dahl, 6-5 from Libertyville and Forward J. P. Bruzek, 6-5, from Lamont were all Illinois high schoolers. Tallest of the new recruits is Center Paul O'Shields who towers at 6-7 and calls Pickens, S. C., home. One-inch shorter from Fayetteville, N. Y., is forward Tom Thomas.

Remember, some of these boys are possibly still growing!

Larry Abner comes in after a hit at Inauguration Day game.
